Federal Prohibition Officers Raid Moonshine Still and Whisky Ballders in Nelson and Bullitt Counties Making Arrests.

Bardstown, Ky., May 19. — Federal prohibition officers and local authorities who Thursday arrested fifteen persons and seized nine automobiles and 341 gallons of moonshine whisky, today continued their crusade against liquor runners in Nelson and Bullitt counties. Among the officers are J. M. Phillips, L. H. Gilbert, J. M. Wakefield and J. M. Kinnaird.

Carl Bowman, arrested near Shepherdsville Thursday, is alleged to have "ditched" whisky from his car while the officers were pursuing Jot Gilbert, who had seventy gallons of moonshine in his machine, and who was overtaken near Shepherdsville.

Three men named Thurd, Schmidt and Brady were apprehended between Mount Washington and Samuels with sixty gallons of whisky.

B. H. Carey and brother, from Shelbyville, were arrested in Bardstown by Marshal Tong with a car containing twenty gallons of moonshine.

Sam Childs and Lizzie Taylor, negroes, of Frankfort were apprehended with thirty-five gallons of liquor in a machine.

Fred Hutchison and Lloyd McKinney were caught with twenty gallons in a roadster.

One man was arrested between Boston and Camp Henry Knox with sixty gallons and two others were arrested in the same neighborhood transporting thirty-six gallons of whisky.

County officials were reported to have raided a fifty-gallon still on the farm of John Downs, three miles west of Bardstown, and arrested five men.

PICTURE WANTED OF COMMANDERY IN PARADE.

From the pictures taken by professional photographers of the Knights Templar parade on Wednesday, the bands leading the various commanderies evidently were more interesting to those photographers than the Templars and not a single photograph can be found on sale which shows the local commandery or any other local commandery on parade, while practically all bands were pictured. Any person having a kodak snap-shot of Maysville Commandery will confer a favor on the commandery by conferring with Commander Edward M. Smith and will probably find a very ready sale for prints of the same among the Knights of the commandery.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 19. — United States District Judge Peck today instructed the jury in the trial of George E. Remus, attorney, and others, charged with conspiring to secure control of the Fleischmann distillery here to dismiss Remus and two other defendants who were tried recently, convicted and sentenced in another conspiracy case. The action was taken on the ground that the defendants had been placed in former jeopardy and under the constitution could not be tried again for the same offense. BIG FEATURES OF REISTRATION LAW ARE EXPLAINED State's New Registration Law Requiring Every Voter to Register This Year Should Be Understood Thoroughly By All.

Under this law, passed over the Governor's veto by the 1922 General Assembly, every voter must register in order to be eligible to vote at the November election.

Dates of Registration This Year.

July 10 and 11 and September 8.

HOURS—Six a. m. to Nine p. m.

OFFICERS.—Two judges, a clerk and a sheriff. These are to be appointed by the County Board of Election Commissioners not later than June 20, from lists to be furnished by the party committees not later than June 15.

"No person shall be eligible as an officer of registration who has committed homicide, or who has been convicted of a felony or is under indictment therefore, or who is not sober, temperate, discreet and of good demeanor, or who has anything of value wagered on the result of the next election, or who is a candidate to be voted for at the next proceeding (should be "succeeding") election, and who is not capable of reading the Constitution of the Commonwealth in English and of writing a plain and legible hand." See Section 2 of the Act.

It is the duty of the registration clerk to post notices in at least six conspicuous places in the precinct ten days in advance, giving the time and place of registration. As soon as registration officers receive from the sheriff of the county notice of their appointment, they should secure a copy of the registration law and make themselves familiar with it.

Who May Register.

"Said officers shall register every citizen of the United States of his or her precinct, who shall apply to be registered at the time and place in the manner required by law, who shall be twenty-one years of age at the next election who has been a resident of the state one year, of the county six months and of the precinct in which such person offers to register sixty days next preceding the election."

It is not necessary that the voter should be a resident of the precinct sixty days before he offers to register. If, by the November election, he will have been a citizen of the state one year, of the county six months and of the precinct sixty days, he may register, even though he may have moved into the precinct the day before, or even on the day of registration.

How To Register.

The voter must apply in person. His or her name will be recorded in a book by the clerk. The voter must then give his address, street and number if in a city and postoffice if in the country, length of residence in state, county and precinct, color, age, sex, occupation, party affiliation, apparent weight and height and other means of identification. When all of this is recorded, the voter must sign his name, if he can. If he is unable to sign he may take oath to that fact and the clerk will sign for him. When all of this is done and attested by the clerk and sheriff the voter is duly registered.

Within three days after registration the books must be taken to the County Clerk's office, where a copy of each precinct book is made by the County Court Clerk.

WAREHOUSES PURCHASED BY ASSOCIATION CORPORATION

Warehousing Corporation Takes Over Maysville Looseleaf Houses at the Meeting Held Here Friday.

Mr. R. M. Barker, of the Burley Tobacco Co-operative Association's warehousing organization, with expert contractors, was in Maysville Friday in conference with officials of the various local warehouse companies for the purpose of closing deals for the purchase of the local houses.

Agreements were reached whereby all of the local warehouses except the Home and the Liberty were taken over by the organization. An agreement could not be reached Friday on the price for the Home house, the largest on the local market, and the matter will probably be settled by arbitration.

The Liberty was not offered for sale and will be opened again next season as an independent house for the sale of non-pooled tobacco.

It is understood that the local warehousemen who sold are very much pleased with the prices they obtained from the growers' organization for their properties.

NORE EVIDENCE IS SOUGHT AGAINST STAR.

Los Angeles, Calif., May 20. — Prosecution of Rodolph Valentino, movie star, for alleged bigamy as result of having married Winifred Hudnut while he was under an interlocutory divorce court order, depends upon evidence alleged to have been found in Mexican border towns, Deputy District Attorney McClelland announced today.

Agents for the district attorney telegraphed him they found several witnesses who could give important evidence in the investigation to determine if Valentino and his bride lived together in California as man and wife McClelland said.

An effort to "hush" the investigation into the movie star's second marriage while under a court order not to marry until finally separated from his first wife has been made, according to McClelland.

GROWERS THROG CITY TO RECEIVE SECOND PAYMENTS

Thousands of Dollars Fall Out to Tobacco Growers by Co-operative Association Saturday—Great Crowds Here.

Hundreds of Mason county tobacco growers, members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, thronged Maysville Saturday being attracted here by the second payment of the proceeds of sales of the pooled crop. Mason county growers received a liberal share of the total of ten millions of dollars distributed.

Upon the face of all farmers visiting the city, there was a look of contentment that has been absent for some time. There was a spirit of rejoicing abroad in the city. It could be seen and felt everywhere.

Maysville people joined with their country neighbors in rejoicing and did everything in their power to make things attractive for them in their celebration. Local business men served at all prominent street corners, free refreshments and the town was turned over to the growers.

At the mass meeting held at the Washington Opera House, there was a great gathering of growers. Concerts were given by the Horseshoe and the Cardinal bands and taken in all, the day was a great one for the grower and for the city folks as well.

The distribution of these checks put thousands of dollars into circulation and will certainly ease credit and make a great improvement in business.

CHICAGO'S WAR

Some months ago Judge Landis, who had been agreed upon by both the employers in the building trades and union labor, as final arbiter in the wage dispute, rendered his decision, one which appealed to all disinterested observers as just and equitable. The people of Chicago so regarded it. The workmen themselves, in many yeases, accepted it as a fair settlement. But certain union officials, leaders of a number of important bodies declared that they would not be governed by the award of Judge Landis, and instituted a reign of anarchy, bombing, and in general terrorism.

These men, such as Murphy and Shea, are in many cases ex-convicts, men of violence and crime, who have openly defied the city of Chicago and have within the last few days begun an open warfare on the forces of law and order. Plant after plant working under the open shop agreement and buildings being constructed by the members of the citizens committee organized to enforce the Landis award, have been destroyed, wholly or partially, by bombs, and three policemen have been shot down in cold blood because of their activities.

Chief of Police Fitzmorris has arrested Murphy and Shea, and two hundred other labor leaders for conspiracy, and has raided the various headquarters and carried away for inspection books and papers, together with fuses, materials for the manufacture of bombs, weapons of various kinds, and other incriminating evidence.

Rewards by the city and the citizens committee have been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the men who murdered the two policemen, totaling, $50,000. Chief Justice Seanlon, of the Criminal Court, has refused to release the prisoners on habeas corpus proceedings on the ground that a state of war exists in the city.

The Chief of Police warned the arrested men a month ago when labor terrorism showed signs of abating, and has been busy since that time in quietly gathering evidence. The arrests are based on information which fully justifies the action of the authorities.

Mr. Edwin W. Sims, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, declares that the bombings have all been traced to one source, and that labor must clean house. "The time is here," he says, "to treat ex-convict labor leaders roughly. Killing policemen and dynamiting buildings will be stopped from now on."

State's Attorney Crowe says:

"Chicago is in the grip of an organized crime camorra. Whenever anybody crosses the path of these so-called labor leaders the word goes out to bump somebody off. Nearly every labor business agent in Chicago seems to trade in bullets, slugging and bombings. They seem to have licensed organized killers who go about shooting policemen and destroying property. Twenty bombings in a month; and all of the bombings were building jobs constructed by members of the Landis award committee. Somebody will pay for these murders and bombings."

There must be many thousands of quiet, peaceful, inoffensive, loyal Americans in the building trades council of Chicago, but they are fearfully misrepresented, and their interests are being ruined by scoundrels who have secured control of union labor and who will stop at nothing to achieve their own ends. The Murphy's, Sheas, Maders, and Brindells will have to be kicked out of the positions of trust if organized labor is to prosper.

ANOTHER POLLYANNA VIEW OF POVERTY.

That longevity is not enhanced by leisure is the dictum of an eminent English physician. The idea has indorsement by many members of the profession on this side of the big water. Which may or may not account for the fact that the average American business man never finds time to retire, however much he may have laid up for the traditional rainy day, or play time, as one may consider the conclusion period of the passage through earthly existence. The theory is that the well-established habits of daily occupation of mind and muscle, nerves and emotions, can not be abruptly broken by sudden cessation of a lifetime occupation and the whole system not suffer deterioration.

No doubt there are exceptions that do not disprove the rule, but there are many to testify that, having accumulated great wealth, they can not find a convenient occasion for stopping the long-time kept-up process of a continuing custom. This is a little hard on those who have acquired riches through years of unremitting endeavor in enterprise and devotion to business with an original purpose of letting go after a while and enjoying the well-earned fruits of the wear and tear of years. But it is not without its consolation to the man who, labor he ever so hard, has ever but little to show for his pains. He is comforted by the reflection that, had he gained fortune, he would still have to work to keep on living in health and comfort.

As he is doing that anyhow without having gained fortune he is, he argues, about as well off as the man who has laid up stores that he must occupy himself in conserving in order to keep on living with capability of enjoying life.

SAME GANG

The Russians who laid the Easter eggs in the nest of the Genoa conference are the same Russians of whom Mr. Wilson said, following the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk: "Their conception of what is right, of what is humane and honorable for them to accept, has been stated with a frankness, a largeness of view, a generosity of spirit, and a universal human sympathy which must challenge the admiration of every friend of mankind; and they have refused to compound their ideals or desert others that they themselves may be safe." Have times so greatly changes, or was judgment then unsound?

A SADDER ALTERNATIVE

"It would be a regrettable situation if we should inaugurate an elaborate subsidy policy only to find that it did not result in disposing of the idle ships now carried by the Government," croaks the New York Journal of Commerce, which is against ship aid and protective tariffs. It would be tall more regrettable if we laid down on the job and extended no aid to ships and reduced the range of "Old Glory" to the dry land, permitting our commercial competitors to dictate the terms for the transportation of our foreign trade.

EDUCATIONAL TOUR TO NATIONAL CAPITAL WILL BE CONDUCTED BY C. & O.

Special Pullman Train Will Leave Maysville Sunday, June 18 For Three and One-half Day Visit To Washington City.

A unique education tour to the national capital was announced Monday by the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

Sunday, June 18, a special train with full Pullman and dining car equipment will leave Maysville at 1:20 p. m. for a three and one-half days tour of Washington.

The cost of the tour, including railroad fare, dining car service, hotel accommodations in Washington, guides, sight seeing automobiles and every minute detail of the trip will be from $31.75 to $56.25, according to the Pullman service desired.

George Coombs, Cincinnati, traveling passenger agent, of the Chesapeake & Ohio, and Stacey N. Behenna, general manager of the Cosmopolitan Tours company, Cincinnati, under whose supervision the tours will be made, were in Maysville Monday arranging details.

High school students may register for the trip and obtain pamphlets containing information of the trip.

Mr. Coombs declared it to be a highly educational in nature and of great potential benefit to those who take advantage thereof.

Although arranged especially for students the general public is invited to take advantage of the trip, believed to be of particular interest to organizations such as clubs, Boy Scouts and Camp Fire girls.

The Cosmopolitan Tours company is efficiently equipped to promote the tour for the Chesapeake & Ohio, having experienced guides and other facilities that the patrons may get the most out of the great educational field at the capital.

Mr. Coombs pointed out that the present trend of education is toward travel. Noted educators have declared that to round out the high school or college training the graduates should have advantage of a trip to points of interest.

"There is no greater mecca for American tourists in the United States than Washington," Mr. Coombs said. The Chesapeake & Ohio railroad offers a particularly historic and interesting route to the capital, through the beautiful New River valley, White Sulphur Springs, and Virginia.

The detailed schedule of the journey follows:

Sunday, June 18.

After boarding our special train composed of Standard Pullman Sleepers, our route is eastward over the scenic Chesapeake and Ohio Route, running until we pass Huntington, then our course is along the valleys of the Kanawha, New and Greenbrier rivers. Evening dinner will be served in the dining cars. The night ride through the mountains will be very enjoyable at this time of the season owing to the cool breezes and comfortable, sanitary Pullman berths.

Monday, June 19.

Upon arrival in Washington, the most beautiful city in the United States, special automobiles will be in waiting to carry us to the Cairo Hotel, one of the show places in Washington. Breakfast will be served after which we will immediately open our sight-seeing program with a tour of the city of Washington. This trip will be made in the finest tourist cars in the city and will include the service of an experienced guide who will point out the homes of statesmen, buildings of national reputation and historical interest. After lunch cars will call at the hotel and take us on a tour of the public buildings. This tour will allow of our visiting all of the buildings including the White House, The Capitol, The Congressional Library, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, The Smithsonian Institute, Pan-American building, in fact nothing will be overlooked. This tour is of about four and one-half hours duration and then to the hotel for our evening dinner. The evening has been left open for our party and as there are numerous shows to be seen we know everyone will be contented.

Tuesday, June 20.

Special trolley cars will be ready to take us on that famous journey to Mt. Vernon, the home of George and Martha Washington. The Washington estate is charmingly situated on one of the hills overlooking the Potomac, about sixteen miles from Washington. The Mt. Vernon Ladies Association of the Union have restored the rooms and many personal relics of George and Martha Washington will be found in the mansion. Washington's body now rests in a handsome marble tomb located on the walkway leading to the river. On the return trip a stop will be made at the quaint old town of Alexandria, Va., lying eight miles south of Washington, where one will see traces of the occupation by both the Union and Confederate Armies. Here Washington and his family attended Christ church and his pew may be seen. After Alexandria our next stop will be at Arlington National Cemetery, about five miles from Washington, located on one of the most beautiful sites in the country. Here on November 11, 1921, the body of the Unknown Soldier, brought over from the battle-fields of France, was placed in a large marble tomb in front of the new million dollar Amphitheater. The Confederate Memorial statue erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy, is located near the mast of the ill-fated Maine. After this wonderful educational morning tour we return to put hotel for the noon-day luncheon. In the afternoon visit can be made to the New Museum of Natural History and the Corcoran Art Gallery.

Wednesday, June 21.

This day has been left without special program as our party will be well acquainted with the city of Washington and a large number of our people will be anxious to revisit some of the buildings for a prolonged inspection. Among these are the Treasury, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, State, War and Navy building, The Lincoln Museum, The Washington Monument, Pension Office, Fish Commission and many other interesting and historical points. Our special train composed of Standard Pullman cars will leave Washington at 9:15 p. m. on the homeward journey, permitting patrons to view the wonderful New River Canyons.

INCREASED ACREAGE MARKS NEW INTEREST IN SOYBEANS

Lexington, Ky. — Prospects are favorable for a 50-thousand-acre crop of soybeans in corn in Kentucky this year, according to Ralph Kenney, crops extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Farmers in all parts of the state are showing increased interest in this combination which has proved to be an economical one for pork production when hogged off and valuable as a soil improver when the bean vines are allowed to rot on the ground after the hogging off or the corn harvest, he said.

"In planting the combination this year, many farmers will use bean attachments on their corn planters while others will mix the bean and corn seed in equal parts and drill or check them with the same plates and chain combinations that they use for seeding an ordinary stand of corn. The beans feed faster than the corn, thus making it unnecessary to change the combination in order to get the required stand of beans. Both the beans and corn may be planted by hand."

"Only three to five bushels of beans are needed on an acre to furnish sufficient protein to balance a 40 to 50 bushel an acre corn crop. This amount may be obtained by seeding from six to ten pounds of bean seed in the same row with corn. The beans should be planted not more than one inch deep and when planted on ground that has not grown beans before should be inoculated."

The soybean-corn combination merits the increased interest being taken in it by farmers, Mr. Kenney believes. "When grown in corn as outlined and hogged off, the beans produce from 150 to 200 pounds of pork more an acre than is secured by corn alone," he continued. "The seed costs from 25 to 30 cents an acre while the return in work is $10 or more an acre."

MANY SHEEP FLOCKS HIT BY TICKS, LICE OR SCAB.

Lexington, Ky. — Few Kentucky flocks of sheep have come through the winter without being troubled with ticks, lice or scab. L. J. Horlacher, in charge of sheep work at the College of Agriculture says. Dipping, therefore, will be necessary this spring on many farms of the state to control these pests, he said.

"Trials at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station show that ticks and lice can be controlled effectively by use of any of the standard commercial coal tar or sheep dips but that a tobacco dip is best for scab. The animals should be dipped immediately after shearing, and then again ten or twelve days later. This second dipping kills all parasites which have hatched since the time of the first dipping. Directions given by manufacturers of the dips should be followed closely if best results are obtained. This is particularly true when a tobacco dip is used. A solution that is too strong acts as a poison and may kill the animal. Also, a sheep that is allowed to remain in the dip too long may be poisoned."

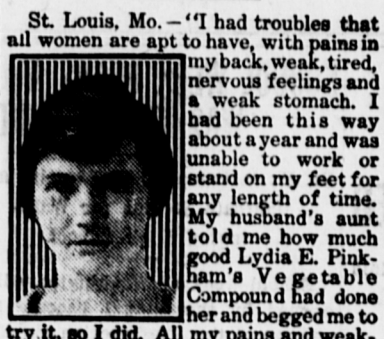

SOYBEANS IN CORN KEEP DOWN CHINCHBUG TROUBLE.

Lexington, Ky. — In addition to forming a good combination for the economical production of pork, soybeans and corn grown together have another advantage which is being pointed out to Kentucky farmers by crop specialists at the College of Agriculture. When grown together, these two crops help to control chinch bugs which in some years become a serious menace to the corn crop, they say.

Soybeans grown in the row with corn help make the field shady, thus discouraging activities of the bug which prefers an open growth. Natural enemies of the chinch bug also like the large amount of moisture held by the damp bean leaves. In addition to these two points, the bugs do not feed upon the soybeans, the specialists say.

TRUST ENDS ONLY WITH SETTLING ENTIRE ESTATE.

Frankfort. — Mr. W. A. Stratton, administratrix, may issue and maintain a motion for recovery of $38,989.33 of her husband's estate, the Court of Appeals decided on an appeal of the case of W. A. Stratton vs. E. F. Farmer. The Jefferson circuit court held that the action could not be taken because the administratrix had settled up the estate and canceled her bond, but Judge Sampson, reversing the judgment, said that "the trust is an continuing one, ending only with the final settlement of the entire estate."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — The most valuable book in America is a copy of the first collection of the works of William Shakespeare. It is worth $150,000 and is owned by Henry C. Folger of this city. The volume was bought something over 300 years ago—three years after Shakespeare died by Edward Gwynn, at a London printing shop. He paid five pounds for it—printed books were scarce in those days—and Mr. Folger bought it several years ago for $100,000. The extra fifty thousand represents the margin of value at which Mr. Folger holds it. It is the only copy known of the book printed at that time.

Still another way has been discovered in which a girl may boast to the world of her best man! She wears his picture in her earring—not hidden away under a secret spring, but right out boldly facing the public. True, the fad hasn't been taken up by a great many girls as yet, but it's arrived, and it is probably only a matter of time until Coney Island photo shops will be making a specialty of earring photos taken and finished, fitted and adjusted while you wait.

King George of England was an unsuccessful bidder for the British Guiana postage stamp which recently sold in Paris for $32,000 and Arthur Hind, of Utica, N. Y., the successful one, according to Londoners just arrived in New York. His Majesty has the greatest collection in the world of stamps of Great Britain and the British Colonies, according to report and was particularly disappointed at not procuring this, the rarest stamp of them all.

New York is mildly excited over the rumor that its picturesque Socialist, Max Eastman, is a contestant against Harold McCormick for the hand of Ganna Walska, the Polish opera singer, who has recently separated from her husband, Alexander Smith Cochran.

—NY—

Chester E. Mead, of Yonkers, hasn't taken his wife to the movies for five years. So she's suing him for separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Don't ever take it lightly again when you have a cold in the head. They are serious and valuable matters. One of them cost the Milan Estate Co. $5,000 the other day. Joseph Gropper, one of the tenants of the estate in the Bronx, sued the other day because he said he caught cold when the heat failed in his apartment. The court gave him $5,000.

As soon as the cutting season is over for asparagus, cultivation should be started and continued as long as there is no danger of breaking off the tops. In the fall the tops should be cut and burned.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Maysville resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and I have reason to recommend them. At times my back has become lame and ached just over my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action and I was dizzy. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills I always get relief from these complaints. I certainly think them a good reliable remedy. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's Drug Store."

The above statement was given November 16, 1916, and on November 22, 1930, Mrs. Holliday said: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pills four years ago. My general health has been good. I gladly renew the statement I gave recommending Doan's at that time."

Price 40 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holliday had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

TOBACCO STRAINS PRODUCED TO CHECK SERIOUS DISEASE.

Lexington, Ky.—Root-rot, a disease held responsible for immense losses suffered each year by burley tobacco growers, can be controlled by use of strains of tobacco which are resistant or immune to the disease, according to a circular describing such strains which has just come off the press at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Resistant strains having quality at least equal to that of commonly grown varieties already have been produced on the station farm, the publication states.

Although held to be one of the most serious diseases affecting tobacco, root-rot is recognized by comparatively few growers as a distinct disease, the publication points out. The disease rots the roots as they develop and although it does not kill the plants entirely, many of them are seriously stunted by it. Symptoms of the trouble commonly are attributed to lack of rain, low soil fertility, or the fact that tobacco is "hard" on land. The fungus causing the disease has been found in a majority of the white burley fields examined during the last two years, the publication states.

A total of 26 strains of white burley have been tested, these being the result of 16 selections of Judy's Pride and 10 selections of Vimont Kelley, all made from severely diseased fields because they showed signs of being highly resistant at the time of selection. Fifteen of the 16 Judy's Pride selections proved resistant while the ten selections of Vimont Kelley, which have been tested one year, all have proved highly resistant.

On new land, as good results should be obtained with the resistant varieties as can be obtained from commonly grown ones with the added advantage of uniformity, making topping and grading easier. On diseased land or that which has grown a single crop of tobacco, the value of the resistant varieties is unquestioned, the publication concludes. Copies of it may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station for Circular N. 28.

BLACKHEAD AND PARASITES KILL MANY YOUNG TURKEYS.

Lexington, Ky. — More young turkeys are killed in Kentucky each year by blackhead and parasites than by any two other troubles affecting these birds, according to J. Holmes Martin, in charge of poultry work at the College of Agriculture. Unless hatched and brooded artificially, young birds suffer heavily from parasites while many deaths often result from blackhead, which is a serious and infectious disease, it was pointed out. Control of these two troubles represents an important problem in this state, which stands fifth among all states in turkey production, Mr. Martin said.

"Taking care of the mother hen before the eggs are hatched has been found to be a good way to keep the young birds free from lice. I use louse powder, such as sodium fluoride, applied close to the skin below the vent and on the head, back and legs of the mother hen will rid her of lice. A small piece of blue ointment about as big as a pea, placed on the skin under the vent, also is effective in controlling the pests.

"As a preventive measure in the case of blackhead, it is well to disinfect carefully the utensils used for feeding the turkeys, as well as their houses, and then to keep the sick birds in a dry place which is well lighted and ventilated.

"Sick birds should be isolated at once. A 7, 3-grain tablet of bichloride of mercury should be dissolved in each two gallons of drinking water and kept before the young poults for two days. Nothing but clean crock or wooden vessels should be used.

"Further steps to prevent the spread of blackhead may be taken when turkey of chicken hens are used as mothers by housing them in colony houses about six feet square, each of which should be located in the center of four equal lots or runs. Keeping the poults on fresh ground by means of changing them from one lot to another every ten days will help keep down the spread of the disease. Green crops should be kept growing in the lots which also should be limed frequently."

CAUSE OF HIGH RATES TO BE SOUGHT IN BOOKS.

Owensboro.—Compelling that electric power rates charged by the Owensboro municipal light plant are exorbitant, leading industrial men of this city have launched a movement which has for its purpose investigation of the plant's management and an audit.

CONTROL OF WEEDS BIG NEED FOR CULTIVATION.

Lexington, Ky. — Corn cultivation that destroys weeds most effectively is best regardless of how deep it goes or how often it is practiced, according to results of the experiments conducted for ten years at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Moisture conservation, once considered a chief reason for cultivation, is secondary in importance as long as weeds are kept down, the tests showed.

To determine the need for cultivation, the weeds on one plot were kept down by being scraped off with a sharp hoe. Despite the fact that no other cultivation was given, this plot yielded 52.9 bushels of corn an acre, as an average for ten years, or only three bushels less than the cultivated areas. However, this method of weed control was not considered, practical because of the labor and expense involved.

Over the ten-year period, the average yields for shallow and deep cultivation practiced six to eight times during the growing season have been 55.5 and 56.2 bushels respectively while the average yields for shallow and deep cultivation practiced three to four times during the season have been 55.8 and 56.1 bushels respectively.

"Observations on the Lexington field show that cultivation conserves moisture if droughts begin when the corn is small," R. E. Stephenson, soils specialist of the station, said in discussing the results. "However, after the corn is well started and is about knee-high, the feeding roots are able to take up most of the moisture that the crop can utilize before it has a chance to evaporate from the surface even though there is no cultivation other than scraping weeds.

"The outstanding thing brought out by the experiments is not the fact that cultivation is not needed but that it should be given at such time and in such a manner as to most effectively destroy weeds."

ODD FELLOWS TO MEET AT CORBIN NEXT.

Corbin was selected as the place for holding next year's Odd Fellows Grand Encampment at the annual meeting in Lexington this week. An amendment to the Constitution adopted Wednesday changed the time of the annual meeting to the second Wednesday in May instead of the third as heretofore.

R. G. Elliott, Grand Scribe, was re-elected for the twenty-eighth consecutive term. During the past 27 years Mr. Elliott has never missed a session of the Grand Lodge or Grand Encampment.

"YE GENUS BOY"

(With apologies to K. C. B.)
Down at LaPorte, Indiana—right on Silver Lake — there is a wonderful, level plain — walled in by wooded hills — and here is Camp Roosevelt named after a great American—who loved banys and men — and I think every red-blooded—American boy and his dad — should know about this camp—for I was there last year—and I saw boys — from everywhere in the U. S. A. — grow tanned and rugged and alert — under regular army officers — and picked high school teachers — for there is a summer school—as you should know — and crack athletic coaches—for the boys swim and hike — and sang and boxed and drilled their proud parents came—and watched — and studied French and algebra — and ate, Gosh, how they ate—and ed and praised—Major F. L. Beans—who is a big man — and knows the boys' game — and is a human being—and this year 1922—the camp will be bigger—and it only costs a little bit—because Chicago's board of Education is back of it all—and the camp's no run—to make money—but to make true Americans—so I really think—every boy that you reach — should know. Don't you?—You tell 'em.
"Yours for Better Boys,"
L. EWERTSEN.

PUBLIC NOTICE.
Owing to unexpected repairs required to the gates at Lock No. 28, it will be necessary to leave the dam down for several weeks, and navigation will have to take place in the open river. It was at first expected that cleaning and painting would be all that would be required, but upon unwavering fate recess it was found that the bushings on all downstream wheels were worn out, and numerous other repairs were necessary, and that in order to put the gates in working condition the wheels must be removed and rebushed. This means that the gates must be jacked up clear of track and remain in that position until the work is completed. The cleaning and painting will go along at the same time and the work will be done as rapidly as possible, but even at the best it is not believed that the dam can be put up for 5 or 6 weeks. As soon as the lower gate has been completed, should the stage of water be below 8 feet, the dam can be raised and kept up for a short period to accommodate towboat navigation, or loading and unloading in Pool No. 28. The dam will then be lowered and the repairs to upper gate will be undertaken. It is believed that packet navigation will be able to use the open river without interruption. W. P. STOCKEY, Lieut. Col., Corps of Engineers.
